

PHAIDON | 100

100 Years of Creativity

One hundred years ago Phaidon was founded in Vienna by Dr Béla Horovitz, Frederick 'Fritz' Ungar, and Ludwig Goldscheider. Phaidon's name referenced Phaedo, a Greek philosopher and pupil of Socrates, and recognized the founders' love for classical culture. The company's vision was to create high-quality art books at affordable prices, with elegant layouts and high production values – something that had not been done before. Phaidon invented the accessible art book.

With headquarters in London and New York, and offices in Paris and Berlin, Phaidon's history includes many milestones. In 1950, E.H. Gombrich's landmark The Story of Art was first released, which has sold more than eight million copies in forty languages. In 2005, we published The Silver Spoon, a seminal Italian cookbook that has sold more than one million copies in eight editions. More recently, we have published globally best-selling books made in collaboration with the global superstar Rihanna, children's books by leading artists such as JR and Jean Jullien, and with ground-breaking brands including NIKE and Supreme.

Today, Phaidon is the leading global publisher in the creative arts, with fifty million books sold in forty languages in over 100 countries. In 2014, we welcomed the online art platform Artspace, and, in 2020, the prestigious publishing house The Monacelli Press. With a cutting-edge digital presence at the heart of our commercial operation, Phaidon is perfectly positioned for the contemporary marketplace.

One hundred years after the creation of our earliest publications, Phaidon's Fall 2023 list exemplifies many firsts – in subject areas, production values, and content – and demonstrates our belief that future generations will covet and value our books. As we celebrate our history and founders, one thing hasn't changed: the belief that books should enlighten, delight, and inspire. We pride ourselves on providing a global platform for creative expression and elevating our books to an art form themselves. We look forward to the next 100 years.

Art in Flower

Finding Inspiration in Art and Nature

Lindsey Taylor, with a foreword by Deborah Needleman

Introduces an original take on floral design that teaches us to see the world anew

Based on Lindsey Taylor's popular Wall Street Journal column 'Flower School,' on its surface this book demonstrates how Taylor creates stunning but achievable floral arrangements inspired by works of art. Riffing on works by a diversity of artists across mediums, periods, and styles, including Alice Neel, Jean-Michel Basquiat, Julie Mehretu, Sheila Hicks, Willem de Kooning, Georgia O'Keeffe, Frank Stella, Salman Toor, Pierre-Auguste Renoir, and Kerry James Marshall, among others, Taylor inspires readers to interpret the palettes, compositions, brushstrokes, and mood of the art in flowers, and shares florists' trade secrets for building beautiful arrangements. Through this meditative practice of looking intently at art and nature, readers learn, in the words of David Hockney, 'to really look,' and to really see the world.

Lindsey Taylor is a garden designer and floral stylist based in upstate New York. Prior to founding her design studio, Taylor was for over a decade a floral expert, writer, and editor for several publications, including the Wall Street Journal, Martha Stewart Living, Domino, Garden Design, T Magazine, and Architectural Digest.

Deborah Needleman is a writer and editor who has served as editor in chief of WSJ, the Wall Street Journal magazine (and was creator of the newspaper's lifestyle section, 'Off Duty'), editor-in-chief of T: The New York Times Style Magazine, and founding editor of Domino.

Stefan Sagmeister's newest project encourages long-term thinking and reminds us that many things in the world are improving

Initially conceived in 2020 as the world entered pandemic lockdown, Stefan Sagmeister has created a book that looks at the state of the world today, illuminating, through collected data, how far we've come, and encouraging us to think about where we can go from here. Statistics are vividly brought to life, as numbers are transformed into graphs, inlaid into nineteenth-century paintings, embroidered canvases, lenticular prints, and hand-painted water glasses. Now is Better is an intriguing and thoughtful visual meditation on our daily lives.

Stefan Sagmeister formed the New York-based Sagmeister Inc. in 1993 and has since designed for clients as diverse as the Guggenheim Museum, the Rolling Stones, and HBO. His work is in museum collections around the world, including the Museum of Modern Art in New York, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, the Art Institute of Chicago, the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, and the Museum of Applied Arts (MAK) in Vienna. He teaches in the graduate department of the School of Visual Arts in New York.

Claudia Rankine, Sampada Aranke, and Akili Tommasino

The most comprehensive publication to date on widely celebrated artist Rashid Johnson

Working with a variety of media that includes painting, sculpture, photography, video, and performance, Rashid Johnson has created a nuanced and iconographic body of work that connects literature, music, and art. Personal references and pervasive cultural narratives are interwoven with the legacy of modernist abstraction, producing what critics have labelled 'conceptual post-black art'. A precocious talent (his work was included in the seminal 'Freestyle' exhibition in New York in 2001), Johnson received the High Museum of Art's David C. Driskell Prize, which honours contributions in the field of African-American art.

Contemporary Artists Series

Hamza Walker, Dan Nadel, and Lynne Tillman

The first comprehensive monograph on one of today's most innovative and successful painters

Defined by bold brushstrokes, a dynamic use of color and imaginative compositions, the paintings of Dana Schutz are panoramic expanses that offer visions of humanity in all its complex facets. Her deeply subjective approach, unthethered from realism, translates into images that seem to exist in a place that transcends time while celebrating the intrinsic qualities of her medium of choice with freedom and intelligence. As the artist herself stated, 'I'm interested in painting as an affective place where the hierarchies of the world can be rearranged within the space of a painting.'

A definitive and timely monograph celebrating the work of ground-breaking conceptual artist Cerith Wyn Evans

Cerith Wyn Evans is an artist interested in language and how this can be perceived in spatial terms. Originally an experimental filmmaker, in the 1990s Evans started creating sculptures and installations defined by poetic conceptualism and elegant aesthetic forms. Often made of neon light, his pieces subtly disrupt existing systems of communication, either through the subversion and alteration of given spatial forms or by adopting a communal rather than a singular, authoritarian voice. In 2003 Evans represented Wales at the country's inaugural pavilion at the 50th Venice Biennale.

Hans Ulrich Obrist is Artistic Director of the Serpentine Galleries in London.

Nancy Spector is a curator and writer based in New York.

Daniel Birnbaum is the Director of Acute Art in London.

The first comprehensive monograph on the work of one of the world's most influential art directors, Ezra Petronio

Having a strong brand identity has never been more vital than it is today, and yet the real creative visionaries who can transform and reinvigorate a brand are few. Ezra Petronio is a true master, and his work with leading fashion and beauty brands is bold and impactful. This impressive book is the first retrospective monograph on his career, illustrating the full breadth of his creative vision, from ad campaigns to his iconic Polaroid series, and demonstrating what it takes to make a brand truly stand out.

Ezra Petronio is the New York-born, Paris-based founder and creative director of the multi-disciplinary creative and strategic agency Petronio Associates, established in 1993, and he has been the editor-in-chief and creative director of the cult biannual fashion magazine, Self Service, since 1994. Petronio is also a highly respected photographer and runs Content Matters, an agency specializing in digital marketing and brand storytelling.

'They conceived of Self Service in 1994 as a kind of laboratory of ideas for their agency – but also as a way of bringing some of the anarchic, youthful energy of London magazines like The Face and i-D to Paris.' – New York Times

Soulful Architecture and Interiors

Celeste Robbins, with Jacqueline Terrebonne

A collection of nine contemporary homes by architect Celeste Robbins, who imbues her modern designs with warmth and emotion

In her first monograph, Chicago-based architect Celeste Robbins proves that contemporary design can be inviting, comfortable, and graciously responsive to how we live. Illustrating Robbins's holistic vision, which integrates architecture, interior design, and landscape, The Meaningful Modern Home features nine significant projects realized in different styles and natural materials. ## MVVA's 23-year story of transforming 85 acres of Brooklyn waterfront into parkland that reconnects New Yorkers to the East River

Photographs by Larry Lederman, text by Marta McDowell, and a foreword by Charles A. Birnbaum

Celebrates the Du Pont family heritage of land stewardship and horticultural creativity

Renowned as the first family of American horticulture, the du Ponts created magnificent landscapes and gardens that complement the verdant, rolling lands of the Brandywine Valley. Five of their estates – Hagley, Nemours, Mt. Cuba, Winterthur, and Longwood Gardens – are open to the public, each a showplace of formal plantings juxtaposed with carefully nurtured natural woodland. Larry Lederman's photographs capture the essence of these sites, moving through the seasons and through the day from dawn to dusk.

Marta McDowell is a garden historian and writer whose books include Emily Dickinson's Gardening Life, Unearthing the Secret Garden, and Beatrix Potter's Gardening Life.

About Face

Stonewall, Revolt, and New Queer Art

Jonathan D. Katz, with texts by Amelia Jones, Joshua Chambers-Letson, Dagmawi Woubshet, and others

A unique survey of 350 artworks by a global and diverse array of LGBTQ+ artists – many underrecognized and overlooked – from the last 50 years

Though the Stonewall Riots might now be shorthand for the start of the gay rights movement, so much of art and culture has been 'queer' since the beginning of time. In About Face, art historian and curator Jonathan D. Katz explores this concept head-on, curating a tapestry of works that connect historical threads and reveal how gender and sexual identity have been interwoven by artists contemporaneous to and since Stonewall. With more than 350 artworks by over 40 LGBTQ+ artists across nationalities and generations, and original texts by artists and scholars, About Face is as stunning as it is important.

Jonathan David Katz, PhD, is Associate Professor of Practice in the History of Art and Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies at The University of Pennsylvania. In 2019, Katz curated About Face: Stonewall, Revolt and New Queer Art at Wrightwood 659 Gallery in Chicago.

The definitive monograph on the work of sculptor, installation artist, and Arte Povera pioneer Luciano Fabro

Luciano Fabro was a founding member, and later leading critic, of Arte Povera, the materials- and experience-based art movement that began in Italy in the late 1960s. He went on to be exhibited internationally, becoming the first artist from the group to receive a major US retrospective, at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art in 1992. This comprehensive, heavily illustrated monograph is the first complete overview of Fabro's career, written by esteemed critic and curator Margit Rowell, who interacted with Fabro repeatedly in his later years.

Margit Rowell is an art historian and independent curator who has held key curatorial positions at cultural institutions in the United States and Europe, including the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, the Centre Georges Pompidou, and the Museum of Modern Art. She is the author, coauthor, or contributor to numerous books on twentieth-century artists. She lives in Paris.

The first comprehensive study of Fabro, the cofounder and foremost theorist of Arte Povera, by a renowned expert on twentieth-century artists and with the full support and participation of the artist's estate

A controversial artist, yet still a critical favorite: in 2018, the leading art publication The Brooklyn Rail dedicated an entire issue to Fabro; New York Times critic Roberta Smith wrote that Fabro treated 'art-making less as a profession and more as a continuing experiment intended to keep himself entertained and the viewer slightly off-balance'

Fully supported by Fabro's international galleries, Christian Stein (Miami) and Simon Lee (London and Hong Kong)

New Surrealism

The Uncanny in Contemporary Painting

Robert Zeller

New Surrealism combines an art historical overview of Surrealism with a selection of influential contemporary artists working in the art movement today

The Surrealist movement is over a hundred years old, but its themes and compositional techniques are continually reinvented and reinvigorated. Alongside a brief history of Surrealism and a survey of important contemporary artists, this book features a section of studio visits with 14 contemporary artists to show how they create their Surrealist compositions. The book's author, Robert Zeller, is one of the most accomplished figurative artists and instructors working today. With its combination of art history, contemporary survey, studio visits, and advanced art instruction, New Surrealism is a unique and fresh overview of this vitally important art movement.

Robert Zeller is a visual artist and writer who received a BFA from a joint program of the Boston Museum School and Tufts University and an MFA from the New York Academy of Art. Following his bestselling The Figurative Artist's Handbook (2017), New Surrealism: The Uncanny in Contemporary Painting is his second book published by Monacelli Studio. He contributed a chapter about Surrealist photography to the exhibition catalogue Photography: Real and Imagined (2024), profiling the permanent collection of the National Gallery of Victoria in Melbourne, Australia, and has also written for The Brooklyn Rail and other influential art periodicals and blogs. In 2009, he founded The Teaching Studios of Art, an in-person and online art school devoted to instruction in figurative art. Zeller maintains a studio practice in Brooklyn, New York, and is the recipient of two Posey Fellowships and a Pollock-Krasner Foundation Grant.
